

Uma Bansal

Brightest LED TV

Powered by 1500 nits

California-based Smart TV company Vu Televisions has introduced ultra-stylish and luxurious Quantum Pixelight LED TV. Powered by 1500 nits, Quantum Pixelight is said to be the brightest LED TV in its segment. It is a visual treat with impeccable industrial metal body and aesthetics. Combination of the highest level of brightness along with local dimming creates a completely new and unique contrast in extreme darkness as well as brightest light settings. Additionally, the smart TV comes with a dynamic Dolby

Price
165cm
(65-inch)
₹ 260,000

audio effect powered through 55,000 sound holes, 4K streaming and one-touch access for Netflix and YouTube.

Price
190cm
(75-inch)
₹ 400,000

Solar Powered Speaker

Gives 30-hour power backup

French company Zoook claims to have introduced India's first solar-powered waterproof speaker. ZB-Solar Muse is a portable device that gives superb 3D surround sound. Not only does it have a 30-hour battery backup, but also an integrated solar panel that charges the lithium battery to keep your music playing when you are out on a trip.

Shaped like a box, the speaker uses APT-X high definition technology. Using detachable velcro straps, cyclists can easily strap the speakers onto their bikes. Also, you can wirelessly stream music from any Bluetooth device—be it a phone, MP3 player or music player. The speaker needs only 10 minutes of sunshine to play 30 minutes of uninterrupted music.

Price
₹2499

Smart Car Charger

With strong magnetic ear pod

Pebble's PCC3M car charger is perfect for those who don't have in-built Bluetooth in their cars. While letting you talk hands-free and drive safely, it gives the power in your hands to charge devices on the go.

Salient features of the charger include in-built mono Bluetooth 4.1 ear pod, three USB outputs, 4.2A output (so smartphones can be charged at ultra-fast speeds), auto-charging and auto-power off, strong magnetism to ensure that ear pods are never lost, smart ID to identify optimal charging current, and talk time of 4 hours and standby time of 96 hours.

Price
₹4999

