

TECHNOLOGY IS REVOLUTIONISING TRAVEL, ARE YOU READY?

Must-have gadget and app companions for smart travellers who want to save time, stay connected and safe at all times, and bag the best deals

Nidhi Arora

“During the last few decades, modern technology with radio, TV, air travel and satellites, has woven a network of communication which puts each part of the world into almost instant contact with all the other parts”—David Bohm

I love to travel. Camping, trekking, hiking and exploring the unfamiliar terrains drive me crazy. In the last few years, the way I travel, however, has changed enormously... I used to run after travel agents for my bookings and travel plans until a decade ago. Of late, with the digital revolution, I rely on Trip Advisor and Make My Trip for the entire planning process. There are robos to welcome guests like me at the hotels and guide at airports. Tech developments have completely transformed my travelling style and preferences from generic to a more personalised one.

Smart traveller (Image source: <http://crownlessads.blogspot.in/>)

Airbnb Stays (Image source: <https://www.linkedin.com>)

With Airbnb disrupting the hotel industry, I have had solo female travellers opting to stay at a stranger's private apartment comfortably. Online reviews, ratings, and the possibility to connect with and know people at distant travel destinations are surreal. Low-cost carriers are another set of winners in the web-dominated travel world. Maps is probably the most frequently used app by travellers for transit at a certain place.