

Projector

Designed for theatre-like image quality

BenQ has introduced digital home cinema projector X12000H, a successor of its flagship X12000 projector. The projector delivers impressive images through CimenaticColor technology, which utilises optimal colours to achieve super-wide DCI-P3 colour space and contrast quality with over 8.3 million razor-sharp pixels. A true 4K UHD projector, X12000H utilises DLP 4K UHD DMD's 4.15 million micromirrors and fast switching speed as well as advanced image processing capability of DLP 4K UHD chipset to achieve CTA's 4K UHD specification.

Cellphone

Especially designed for kids

eNovus enterprises has launched easyfone Star, specially designed for kids to help them be safer and more connected. easyfone Star comes with a host of safety features. It restricts calls (incoming and outgoing) to only pre-configured numbers so that children can only talk to known people. Further, it has no Internet-browsing capability and comes with GPS, which allows parents to track their kid(s) when required. In addition, easyfone Star comes with a dedicated SOS key that allows children to seek help quickly in emergencies.

Critical settings can only be configured through the company's web-site using a service called CareTouch. These settings cannot be changed on the phone by anyone. Besides being tamper-proof, CareTouch lets parents make changes to the settings remotely.

easyfone Star also comes with features that help children become more organised and responsible. Parents can set Do Not Disturb time windows along with reminders and schedules for study time, activities, birthdays and so on for their children.
