Government to invest ₹ 150 billion to set up 100,000 digital villages

The government plans to begin setting up 100,000 digital villages as early as next month. A proposal for ₹ 150 billion has been prepared by CSC eGovernance Services India Ltd, which will be the nodal point for the digital villages project.

According to the detailed report prepared by CSC eGovernance, the whole project will involve over ten central ministries to make a digital village successful and connect it with the rest of India. The ministries for communications, electronics and IT, Jal Shakti, agriculture, health and others will all play important roles in this project.

Once the proposal is approved by Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), it will be sent to the Cabinet for final approval, a senior ministry official informed DNA News.

Most automotive LED lighting is for headlights and front lights

According to market experts, the approximately US$ 35 billion automotive lighting market is speculated to grow at a rate of five per cent YoY, in 2019. Passenger vehicles have boosted the sales of LED automotive lighting, and this trend is expected to continue with electric vehicles, too.

Market experts claim that around sixty per cent of the automotive LED lighting installed is for headlights and front lights, which together with rear lights account for three-fourths of the market.

Even fog LED lights are gaining traction among rear and front lights. Along with lightweight automotive components, lightweight lighting systems will gain more importance among vehicle manufacturers. This trend is because of current vehicle emission standards that mandate certain levels of fuel efficiency, which is partially enhanced by keeping the vehicle's weight down.

LED bulbs and LED downlighters flouting safety standards

In a study conducted by Nielsen across eight major Indian cities—New Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Chennai, Durgapur, Bareilly, Ahmedabad and Hyderabad—47 per cent of LED bulb
