to sources at TPDDL, which serves the north and north-western parts of New Delhi. LED lighting products and BEE five-star ceiling fans will be offered to its consumers at special discounted rates.

A nine-watt LED bulb will be available for ₹ 65, while a 20-watt LED tubelight will cost ₹ 230. Also, BEE five-star rated ceiling fans will be available for ₹ 1150 per piece, TPDDL sources have said in a statement.

TPDDL's main aim is to increase the penetration of energy-efficient LED lighting products and ceiling fans among its customer base, which will result in widespread energy savings and a reduction in electricity bills. "Energy-efficient products will come with competitive pricing and a warranty. This will lead to efficient load management and increase public awareness about energy-efficient technologies," the company spokesperson has said in a statement.

EESL to export LEDs to Nepal, Bhutan, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh

Energy Efficiency Services Ltd (EESL) has received cumulative orders from Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Bhutan and Nepal for about 25 million LED lamps. It is also in talks with leading banks in India for replacing air-conditioners at ATMs.

EESL MD, Saurabh Kumar, has said that the PSU has brought down the prices to ₹ 38 for a nine-watt lamp, from ₹ 310, which was the cost of the bulb in 2014. He has also said that EESL would be distributing ten million lamps each in Sri Lanka and Nepal, and another one million in Bhutan. The company plans to start work on these exports in the next three to six months, beginning with Bangladesh.
