

Most engineers end up without a job after graduating from engineering. With millions of engineers graduating per year in India, the competition for the few available jobs is extremely high. To get the best chance of kick-starting your career, sign up for EFY UP.

Because EFY is well connected with universities, engineering MNCs, HR personnel, and industry thought leaders, EFY's University Programme is the one truly effective solution for engineering students and faculty.

And only EFY University Programme leverages EFY's half a century worth of experience in the engineering and technology industry.
