

From on paper to in production

It takes millions of parts to build a $300 million airplane. Multiply that by multiple years' worth of orders for new planes, and you'll know why leaders in aerospace trust our guidance to ensure they take off on time. What can Avnet's technical and logistical know-how do for your products?

Find out at avnet.com/apac

