Semiconductor revenue in Q1 2021 grew from the previous quarter, Q4 2020. The last time the semiconductor market had revenue growth in Q1 was in Q1 2010, another period where seasonal trends were disrupted. The world economy was returning following the global financial crisis of 2008 and 2009 (Source: Omdia)

Pandemic Helps in Revival of The Tablet Market

The global tablet market saw a big revival during the pandemic, emerging from a long slump. The market grew by 19% YoY in 2020 due to the increasing demand for large-screen mobile devices spurred by remote work, online education and extended stay-at-home orders. The market grew 53% YoY in Q1 2021 after reaching a five-year high in Q4 2020
