

Billion dollars incentive for making semiconductor chips in India

The government of India is ready to offer more than one billion dollars in cash to chip companies that are ready to set shop in India, though it is yet to be decided how the incentive would be provided. The country does not have any major chip fabrication unit at present. But this is not the first time that the government of India has shown a strong desire to set up a chip fabrication unit. Way back in 2013-14 also the government had announced that India was ready to have two chip manufacturing plants with more than US$5 billion in investments.
